Sometimes You Can't Make It on Your Own

by Dr. R. Glen Miles

A few years ago I woke early after a sleepless night. I was worried about a serious decision. Feeling the need to rejuvenate my spirit, I grabbed a U2 CD on my way out the door and plugged it into my car's sound system. I pushed the random button on the player so that the songs would not follow the album's preset order. The song that came up was, "Sometimes you can't make it on your own." The lyrics spoke directly to me:

*Tough, you think you've got the stuff
You're telling me and anyone
You're hard enough...
Sometimes you can't make it on your own.*

I needed that word more than I realized. I prayed out loud as I was driving, "Lord, I can't make it on my own. I need you. Our church needs you. Guide us, lead us, help us."

Later that day I stopped by the hospital to see Letha Bash. She was the widow of Lawrence Bash, the great pastor of this congregation from 1961-1978. At 94 years of age she was quite frail. She was fighting the flu and was in the hospital to help her fight a little harder. Because she was so ill she had been unable to attend worship for a long time. That bothered her a lot. She deeply loved this church. As we talked she said, "I pray everyday. I pray for the world. I pray for Country Club Christian." And then she took my hand and said, "Glen, I pray for you. I pray for you every day." Tears formed in my eyes. There were tears in her eyes too. It was a sacred and unexpected moment.

As I sat beside her in that hospital room, it felt like the Spirit of God was there. I knew I was in the presence of someone holy. And, I was sure that the song playing in my car early that day was a word from the Lord: "Sometimes you can't make it on your own."

Letha's love and prayers were a powerful reminder of the way God works in the world through the most unexpected persons. I had been certain, like the opening words of the song, that I was tough enough to take on whatever the world might throw at me but what I really needed, and still do, was a serious dose of the grace of God and the simple, but true reminder that none of us can make it on our own. We need God. We need each other.

Grace and peace to you,

Spring Musical Important for All

By Michael Patch, Director of Children and Student Music

Today is a beautiful spring day. The drizzle is making everything damp and the clouds are covering the blue sky. I stepped in mud as I got into my car. And, I spilled my coffee as I slammed on my breaks in rush hour traffic. What a beautiful day.

Though it may not appear to be a good morning, I can't help but whistle a tune from the upcoming children's musical. Rehearsals are in full swing and I am having a blast working with all of the kids as they learn their music and lines.

The show, iAm, An App for All That, is about the one thing that surpasses even the most exciting and innovative products in our lives: God. To trust in God and to spread the love of Christ trumps Angry Birds any day.

I'm not going to say that putting together a children's musical is easy, but I have wonderful volunteers and families to work with. We have our lines. We have our music. We have our stage and lights and sound. The children's musical is only a small part of the programs that are offered to our children, students and families. As we build our sets and learn our lines, children and student ministries are building programs that will hit deep into the hearts and minds of our youth. They don't have a book of lines or a musical CD, or song and dance. Instead they have amazing leadership in Monica Lewis and the extremely capable and discerning Renovation team. This church knows the importance of everyone connecting with and supporting our families.

This show is not just for the families of the children and students, it is for everyone who knows the importance of supporting those in our church who are developing a relationship with God. Please show your support and join this amazing cast: Caroline Schopp, Liam Petrie, Elizabeth Crocker, Russell Smith, Aneesa Housel, Blake Petrie, Macy Grisell and Andrew Bennett on Sun., Apr. 26, at 12:15 p.m. in the Social Hall. Lunch provided!

As with anything, there are gray skies and muddy mornings. The process of putting on a show is riddled with challenges that can cloud even the brightest of shows. But the message is clear, The beauty of children coming together with the common goal of spreading the word and love of God can firm up any muddy foundation, part the thickest of cloud covers, and even make the spilled coffee in rush hour traffic disappear.

Easter Offering

You still have time to contribute to the special 2015 Easter offering. This year the Outreach Council designated the Christian Hospital in Mungeli, India as the recipient of our Easter Offering.

While the hospital was founded in 1896, it had fallen on hard times and by 2002 had a staff of only 26 people, and the payroll for this staff was only about $1,000 per month in total. There was poor morale and little hope for the future. Drs. Anil and Teresa Henry arrived at the hospital in 2003 and they provided the leadership to make the hospital one of the great success stories of Global Ministries work.

Today, the hospital provides over 30,000 treatments a year. Those treated are often in the later stages of illness, because villagers often come to the hospital only after going to local unlicensed practitioners in their villages. The hospital delivers over 700 babies a year, but again the pregnant women are brought to the hospital only after they have suffered long periods of labor resulting in the need for many Caesarean sections.

The hospital also houses a school for nurses and an English school for village children.

We invite you to generously give to the Easter Offering so that we can share in the wonderful work being done at the Christian Hospital. Mark your gift "Easter Offering" and mail it to the church office, or drop it in the offering plate on Sunday.

Live Wastefully

By Rev. David Diebold, Minister of Music

I love this time of year. One day, the world is stark and barren, and then, it seems almost overnight, our city is blessed with stunning arrays of spring color. It happens every year, and yet, my reaction is always one of joy at spring's extravagance. In our garden is a plant that has been there over 20 years. It is called Lenten Rose. The foliage is not particularly beautiful. In fact, throughout the year its leaves are generally tinged with brown. It almost always looks to be on the verge of death. But late every winter, regardless of the weather, it puts out beautiful pink blooms. I looked at the sad, bedraggled foliage some time back and thought it had finally died. It looked dreadful. But, much to my delight, not two weeks ago, the pink blooms were back, and the Lenten Rose had come back to life.

This time of year always reminds me that even in the bleakest of times, God will do something new and rejuvenate our world. Like the Lenten Rose, life's moments of newness can be small or large. Whether it is the rebirth of the flowers and trees in spring, that moment of forgiveness after an argument with a loved one or friend, or even that negative pathology report, life constantly is giving us a new future. We can then either live into that future or continue on the same familiar path we have walked before, unchanged.

I am reminded of a portion of an Advent text by Susan Palo Cherwien: "...shine your future in this place; enlighten every guest; that through us shines your holiness." I think that, we humans tend to wait out our more mundane moments in life for some epic event to change things, often missing the life-changing possibilities laid out all around us. Perhaps, it is those small everyday moments that actually transform our lives.

I am reminded of Jesus' words "...for those with ears to hear and eyes to see." With the echoes of Easter hallelujahs still fresh in our ears, my hope is that we might all see God's future in not only the extravagance of the spring season, but also in little things around us.

Virginia Reed Food Drive

The next food drive is Sun., Apr. 12. We have three ways to share the bounty with the hungry in our community:

1. Bring canned goods to our donation points in the parlor and the chapel, and at the doors any time. Please do not bring anything in a glass container. Cans, boxes and plastic containers all work well and are not accidentally broken as easily as glass.
2. Make a financial contribution to the Virginia Reed Food Drive on the Harvesters Community Food Network website (christianchurch.harvestersvfd.org). We will have a computer in the parlor on Apr. 12 for you to make your online contribution.
3. Make a financial contribution to the church and mark your check or giving envelope "food drive." You may place these gifts in the offering plate during worship.

Your gifts support the five area food pantries that our church supports: Community Christian Church, Alta Vista Christian Church, First Christian Church, Della Lamb Community Services and Cross-Lines Community Outreach.
